Preliminary round robins

Most teams have been placed in groups of 6 teams, based on their initial seeding as shown above, and will play a preliminary round robin of 6-board matches on Friday afternoon to determine seeding from Match 2 onwards. Scoring will be by VPs using the WBF discrete scale. There are no seating rights and teams must submit their line-ups for the whole session, including any changes, before play starts. 0.20 Green Points will be awarded for each 6-board match won (0.10 for a draw).

After the first session, all teams will assume the seed number corresponding to their rank in the round robin group, for the purpose of the next round draw. The top 4 teams in each group of 6 are deemed to be undefeated; the remaining teams will be deemed to be "half-defeated". These half-defeated teams will play each other in Match 2 for master points and in order to determine seeding for Match 3; all such teams will become once-defeated at the end of Match 2 regardless of the outcome of the match, but the winning teams in these matches may choose whether to retain their seeds for Match 3 or change with the team they have just beaten, to determine which team they play against next.

Head-to-head matches

16 teams will play head-to-head 32-board matches in Round 1 on Friday afternoon as listed above. All other teams, having played a preliminary round robin as explained above, will play 32-board matches in four stanzas of 8 boards, from Saturday morning onwards until eliminated by virtue of being twice-defeated. In all head-to-head matches, winning teams assume the lower-numbered seed of the two teams in the match.

Once eliminated, teams may join the consolation round-robins, which determine qualification for the main side event, the Punchbowl, which takes place on Monday.

Meeting a team for a short match in a preliminary round robin does not preclude being drawn against that team in the main event or meeting them in the later Punchbowl qualifying round robins; Match 2 draws will involve all undefeated teams playing opponents against whom they have already had a short round-robin match.
